PERSONALISE ANY OF OUR PRODUCTS

The power of personalisation

Personalising your premium brand garment is a way of aligning your unique logo with leading outdoorwear brands to further awareness of who you are and what you stand for in the marketplace.

Dual-branded corporate gifts, promotional merchandise and corporate wear strengthen your brand and make it more recognisable, creating more interest in the products and services you offer.

We offer the complete embroidery and print service alongside supply of clothing, equipment and accessories from our premium brand partners.

Our personalisation team of highly skilled decorators have over 11 years' experience of personalising high-end technical garments, understanding the best form of decoration for the fabric technology of each item.

We use either embroidery, vinyl print or screen print processes, all depending on the garment's fabric technology. All products shown in this catalogue can be personalised. Artwork is required in JPEG or EPS format.

Call us to see how our team of expert decorators can personalise your high-end garments and get your brand out there!

Take a stand. Source responsibly.

Our eco-friendly range includes jackets, vests & gilets, bags, water bottles and more from iconic, outdoor brands. Lookout for the eco label throughout the brochure to identify our eco products.

We've seen a sharp rise in demand for clothing for corporate wear, uniform, workwear and promotional use that is sustainable - ethically manufactured, with an environmental conscience.

Our premium outdoor brands such as The North Face, Rab, Berghaus, Jack Wolfskin and Patagonia have all made significant changes to their manufacturing processes, turning the tide on plastics by reducing single-use polymers in their clothing. Known for their commitment to sourcing, manufacturing and distributing ethically and responsibly, these brands have become popular with businesses wishing to give back to our planet, while meeting CSR goals and aligning themselves with their environmentally- and socially-friendly vision.

“Craftsmanship that’s kinder to the world we love to explore”

Arguably one of the most well-known outdoor brands in the UK, from the early days above a shop in the North-East of England, Berghaus has come a long way. They’ve racked up more than 50 years’ experience creating outdoor gear that’s beautifully designed and built to last.

Right now, Berghaus are producing their most environmentally friendly gear yet, while continuing to deliver the newest innovations that make them leaders in performance. Sustainability is at the heart of the Berghaus ethos. Repairing, recycling and repurposing is just a small part of Berghaus’ effort to become a sustainable brand.

Eco Credentials

Bluesign Pioneers

Berghaus were the first British brand to join the bluesign system. If a product contains more than 90% bluesign approved fabrics it will achieve the MADEKIND™ label.

Recycled Materials

Berghaus have been using recycled materials in their products since the 70's when their new Yeti gaiter, which incorporated old tractor inner tubes and set a new standard in foot protection.

MADEKIND

Performance gear that's kinder to the planet. Products marked with the MADEKIND™ label are eco-friendly and could contain recycled material, organic cotton, bio-based material from natural sources, or because they're made by one of the brand's sustainable partners.

The Good Wood Project

Berghaus plant two million trees every year across Madagascar and Kenya - just one of their many efforts to reach Net Zero by 2030.

Eco Packaging

In keeping with the Berghaus MADEKIND™ philosophy, they ensure all of their product packaging is sustainably produced.

Chemicals & Dyes

Chemicals used in Berghaus' manufacturing adhere to a management program, meeting requirements of hazardous substances, worker/consumer safety and environmental protection.

Minimising Waste

Berghaus support initiatives to minimise waste, including: Africa Shoes which sends unwanted shoes to developing countries or uses them for spare parts. In Kind Direct which distributes products, to charity, social enterprise & NFPs.

Design Durability

Longevity is a key pillar of performance for Berghaus, with innovative design, considered construction and rigorous field testing to ensure their products are built to last.

“Striving to protect the places we love to explore”

The North Face (TNF) delivers an extensive line of performance apparel, equipment, and footwear. They push the boundaries of innovation so that you can push the boundaries of exploration. They remain deeply proud to be the first choice of the world’s most accomplished climbers, mountaineers, extreme skiers, snowboarders, endurance runners, and explorers.

They are committed to creating the best performing products for exploration whilst working hard to leave an even smaller footprint on the planet. They have set an ambitious goal to ensure all products made are with recycled, regenerative, organic or responsibly sourced renewable fabrics, and are committed to improving the environmental performance of their products through innovations in materials development and manufacturing.

Partners & Memberships

Eco Credentials

Recycled Materials

TNF aims to use 100% responsibly sourced fabrics by 2025. They are reducing the amount of recycled plastic in polyester fabric, as well as helping to reduce dependence on fossil fuels by reusing those materials already in existence.

Responsible Down Standard

In 2014, they launched the Responsible Down Standard (RDS) in partnership with Textile Exchange, a global non-profit dedicated to sustainability in the apparel and textile industry, and Control Union Certifications.

Responsible Wool

More than 80% of wool TNF used in FY2020 was responsibly sourced, coming from either recycled or certified (including ZQ or RWS) sources. This figure is increasing year on year.

Packaging & Materials

TNF aims to eliminate single-use plastic packaging by 2025 and only use recycled content for all their paper materials, like hangtags and cardboard shipping boxes.

Green Buildings

TNF uses Green buildings to enable control of heating, air conditioning and lighting, along with access to green space and other key features. They have committed to utilising 100% renewable energy across their facilities by 2025.

Conservation Projects

TNF co-founds The Outdoor Industry Conservation Alliance with REI, Patagonia and Kelty. The group distributes its collective annual membership dues to grassroots organisations working to protect North America's last wild places.

Scale Circularity

TNF have three specific programs designed to help combat waste and extend the life of their products through their Limited Lifetime Warranty program, Renewed Collection, and Clothes the Loop programs.

Work in Tandem

TNF are committed to working with suppliers to help reduce their environmental footprint. They're partnering with retailers who share both their mission and values. These efforts will have positive impacts on the industry overall.

Recycled Down

Patagonia's Recycled Down is diverted from the landfill, reducing waste and reintroducing used down into the insulation market. It is sourced from family-owned businesses who share their values for high-quality and uncompromising performance.

Recycled Wool

Patagonia recycles its wool to extend the life span of a valuable fiber that has already been produced. As a result, they are able to make clothing with the same great qualities as virgin wool at a fraction of the environmental cost.

Regenerative Organic Certified™ Programs

100% of the virgin cotton in Patagonia products is grown organically. Patagonia is participating in two Regenerative Organic Certified™ pilots, one in apparel and one in food. These practices are aimed at reducing greenhouse gas emissions and could help trap more carbon than conventional agriculture.

Advanced Global Traceable Down Standard

100% of all virgin down Patagonia's source that is certified by NSF International to meet the Advanced Global Traceable Down Standard to help ensure the birds that supply it are not force-fed or live-plucked.

H₂No® Performance Standard

H₂No® Performance Standard is Patagonia's benchmark for waterproofness, breathability and durability. Currently, all of the H₂No® fabrics use recycled inputs and endure rigorous field-testing in addition to lab testing.

Material Traceability

Patagonia continue to strive to explore new developments in the fields of material traceability and supply chain transparency, including adopting best practices used in textile and other commodity supply chains.

Supply Chain Environmental Responsibility Program

The purpose of Patagonia's Supply Chain Environmental Responsibility Program is to measure, reduce and eliminate the environmental impacts of Patagonia's manufacturing processes and is implemented at supplier facilities all over the world.

1% For The Planet

Patagonia give back for every single sale they make; they pledged 1% of sales to the preservation and restoration of the natural environment.

THE MOUNTAIN PEOPLE

“Simply put, sustainability is in our DNA”

Rab Carrington built his company on two things: A deep understanding of what climbers and mountaineers need, and a commitment to practical gear that works. It’s this down to earth, honest approach that still informs the design and testing process linking them firmly to that modest beginning in 1980’s Sheffield. Those same qualities of innovation, integrity and function have endured, remaining at the heart of the Rab brand today.

A certified, Climate Neural Company and with an ambition to achieve Carbon Net Zero by 2030, it has always been in Rab’s DNA to create industry-leading, responsibly made products that don’t compromise on performance. Together with partners, they have identified opportunities to develop materials that reduce their environmental impact whilst maintaining performance.

Partners & Memberships

Eco Credentials

Recycled Synthetic Insulation

For AW20, Rab introduced PrimaLoft® Silver Insulation Luxe™ into their range. It uses post-consumer recycled materials to create high performance synthetic insulation that mimics down.

P.U.R.E. Recycled Down

In 2019, Rab introduced the world's first Global Recycled Standard certified down and were an early adopter of the Responsible Down Standard. P.U.R.E. recycled down uses fewer resources to produce than virgin down, and prevents unnecessary waste.

Minimising Harmful Chemicals

Environmental harming Fluorocarbons are used in the outdoor industry to make DWRs. Rab is working to find a replacement that allows their products to perform to the highest standards.

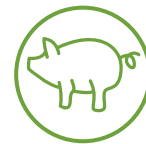

Recycled Fabrics

Rab is swapping to recycled fibres where possible. In partnership with brands like Pertex® and GORE-TEX®, Rab is developing fabrics containing varying levels of recycled content that still perform to the highest level.

Green Offices

Rab are into their third year as a Climate Neutral Company and have set an aim to be Net Zero by 2030. They operate on 100% renewable electricity in their UK owned facilities.

Fair & Humane Animal Welfare

Rab only works with suppliers who source animal by-products from entities that use fair and humane animal welfare practices.

Minimising waste

Samples, repaired returns, discontinued fabrics, overstocked, or other unsaleable products are either: Resold in retail outlets, repurposed into new items, donated to charities, used for spare parts or disassembled for education/research.

Eco Packaging & Materials

Rab uses 50% recycled material polybags and have swapped to paper/cardboard packaging made from 100% recycled, sustainably sourced materials. They have reduced hangtag materials by 79% through introducing a QR code.

finisterre

“Built to Last - Inspiring a Love of the Sea.”

Born in 2003 from the needs of hardy British surfers, Finisterre designs functional and sustainable product for those that share a love of the sea. The name of one of the most rugged headlands that bravely bears the full brunt of the North Atlantic gales, and a former shipping forecast area, Finisterre literally means end of the earth or land's end. In 2018, they became a certified B Corp.

Partners & Memberships

Eco Credentials

Certified B Corp

In 2018, Finisterre became a certified B Corp, and the first European surf brand to do so thanks to their continuing efforts to maintain a sustainable business.

A Positive Impact Business

Finisterre is committed to building durable products improving the ocean business decisions and using their platform to make positive change to people.

Repurposing Gear

In 2021, they launched their unwanted Finisterre gear in return for money off new online purchases.

Lived & Loved Repair Workshop

For more than a decade, they've been inviting customers to send their old gear back for repairs to minimise waste.

Designing for Circularity

Finisterre are committed to becoming a brand that goes beyond zero impact; to net positive environmental impact.

Designed for Durability

All of Finisterre's products are designed for durability and sustainability with the idea that they'll be worn and loved for a long time.

Championing Ocean Activists

In 2021, they teamed up with Protect Blue to host the UK's first Ocean Activist Training Camp.

Natural & Renewable Fabrics

A clean alternative to neoprene. Yulex has been in their range for 2 years, but in 2021, they switched all of their wetsuits to Yulex Natural Rubber.

“Born by the sea. Raised by the mountains.”

Helly Hansen has been making professional grade gear to help people stay and feel alive for over 140 years. It all started in 1877 when sea captain Helly Juell Hansen found a better way to stay protected from the harsh Norwegian elements. Soon thereafter, Captain Hansen and his wife Margrethe launched a business producing waterproof oilskin jackets, trousers, sou’westers and tarpaulins made from coarse linen soaked in linseed oil – and the legend was born!

After 140+ years in business, Helly Hansen knows that long term success can only be achieved by respecting, protecting and promoting ethical values, human rights and the environment. By applying a holistic and scientific approach to all their decisions, they strive to ensure their actions support the possibility for people and the planet to thrive.

Partners & Memberships

Eco Credentials

Eco-Friendly Packaging

Helly Hansen use 100% recycled content in all of their polyethylene bags and all hangtags are made from FSC certified paper.

Animal Welfare

Helly Hansen only source from producers who follow best practices of animal welfare.. Since 2018, 100% of their down is RDS (Responsible Down Standard) certified, and in 2019, they phased out all leather from their apparel.

ZQ Certified Wool

All Merino wool used in Helly Hansen products is ZQ Certified, this demands the best standards in animal welfare and environmental practice.

Recycled materials

Almost all Helly Hansen's non-woven insulations contain 80% post-consumer recycled polyester. They have also managed to replace around 70% of fleece fabrics with recycled content.

Solution dyeing

Helly Hansen has moved a lot of its linings and base layers to solution-dyed fabrics, this can save up to 30L of water per KG of textile.

Organic Cotton

At Helly Hansen, they're moving to organic cotton where possible. Organic cotton is grown without the use of synthetic pesticides and fertilisers and can reduce water scarcity risks by 91%.

Workers Rights

Across their entire supply chain, Helly Hansen is committed to maintaining improvements their factories have implemented through the Alliance for Bangladesh Worker Safety.

Product Lifecycle

Helly Hansen understand there may come a day when you wish to retire your Helly Hansen garment so they launched their Recycle. Reuse. Resell campaign to tackle this issue.

“Further, forever.”

Montane is committed to utilising the most sustainable, ethically sourced materials and processes available. Whether that’s by incorporating recycled fabrics into their products, implementing the Responsible Down Standard across their entire down collection, or choosing to use 100% organic cotton in all of their t-shirts, they’re working hard to reduce their environmental footprint without compromising on product performance.

Durability is the cornerstone of Montane’s design and manufacturing philosophy. Extending the lifetime of the product effectively diminishes the impacts associated with production by sharing them over more years and cutting down on landfill in the process.

Partners & Memberships

Eco Credentials

Recycled Fabrics

Montane works closely with their fabric suppliers to introduce the latest recycled materials where possible. Performance and longevity are at the heart of their designs, and where these are not compromised, they have integrated recycled fabrics from suppliers into their range.

Microfibres

Montane believes that committing to quality materials from reputable mills allows products to be as durable as possible, extending their lifespan and lowering their environmental impact by shedding fewer microfibres.

Animal Welfare

In 2015, Montane became the first brand to implement the Responsible Down Standard. The entire supply chain is inspected by independent, certification bodies annually to guarantee traceability and compliance.

PFC's

Montane's long-term goal is to completely eliminate PFCs from their supply chain and they are working with nominated partners who are trialling new chemistry and continue to monitor the alternatives as they emerge.

PVC & Phthalates

Phthalates have been linked to disrupting hormone levels as well as being a suspected carcinogen. For this reason, Montane only uses printing inks which are free from PVC and phthalates.

Organic Cotton

All of Montane's cotton is sourced in India and their organic cotton t-shirts are made in a factory certified to SA8000 and GOTS.

Repair Service

If your Montane gear gets damaged, they will always aim to repair items with identical, or similar, materials and restore them to their original performance levels, reducing wastage.

Ethical Trading

Montane is proud to work with some of the leading technical apparel and equipment factories in the industry. They only work with manufacturers who respect both their standards, and the rights and well-being of the people who make other products.

Musto has become bluesign system partners and over 60% of their fabrics are already bluesign approved.

PFC Free DWR

Musto set a target to phase out PFC DWR treatments and ensure a minimum of 50% of their synthetic fabrics are recycled versions by 2025.

Sustainable Packaging

Musto was challenged by the Volvo Ocean Race to find a more sustainable alternative to plastic packaging. As a result, they made savings of more than 4,000 kg of plastic packaging.

Prioritising Certified Materials

Musto is prioritising the use of certified recycled synthetics, bluesign certified materials and products, organic cotton, PFC Durable Water Repellency treatments and solution-dyed fabrics.

Fair Working Practices

Musto is a British brand at heart, delivering authentic, excellence in a product-led environment. This wouldn't be possible without a dedicated, team and a supply chain that is responsibly managed and constantly improving.

Long-lasting Products

Musto has adopted a reparability and end-of-use mindset during the formative design, ensuring their products be durable and long-lasting.

CRAGHOPPERS

“Mindfully made”

Back in 1965 when Craghoppers hit upon the idea of turning a passion for travel into a bona fide business, they felt like they were embarking on an exciting, and at times perilous trip into the unknown. Their perseverance paid off and they are now recognised as a global outdoor and adventure travel specialist. The world may have moved on over the last 50 years, but their mission remains the same – to create comfortable and practical clothing ranges to help their customers stay on the trail as long as possible.

From reducing their carbon footprint, energy usage and having zero waste landfill, they take their commitment to the environment extremely seriously. In 2020, they won “Brand of the Year” at the Drapers Sustainable Fashion Awards in recognition of the progress they have made.

Partners & Memberships

Eco Credentials

Chemicals & Pollutants

All of their gear uses 100% PFC free fabrics, ensuring they have the best chemistry in their water repellent finishes and they are continually replacing harsh chemicals with more eco-friendly, plant-based alternatives within their products.

Recycled Fabrics

Craghoppers are increasing the use of recycled materials in their products, over 70% of their clothing is made from recycled materials with yarns.

Mindfully Made Products

As active members of the Ethical Trade Initiative (ETI), Craghoppers continue to work with their supply base to improve the working conditions and wellbeing of the workers.

Organic Cotton

By 2020, Craghoppers ensured all its cotton T-shirts were produced from certified organic cotton standards.

Green Headquarters

In 2021, Craghoppers installed 892 solar panels across 1,623m² of roof to reduce energy consumption producing 23% of their current annual usage. Craghoppers have zero landfill for any waste from their facilities.

Sustainable Insulation

Craghoppers have taken a stand and now only offer man-made fillings in all of their insulated products offering as much warmth as Down. Any Merino wool used in products is 100% ethically sourced.

Conservation Projects

As members of the EOCA, Craghoppers have been working with the Dian Fossey Gorilla Fund and are committed to protecting the Mountain Gorillas of Rwanda and the Grauer Gorillas in the Congo.

Packaging & Materials

Craghoppers have reduced product packaging by 50% and only use recycled materials in their printing. They don't laminate paper and source all paper from renewable sources (FSC Standard). Poly bags are made from Oxo plastic which is reusable, recyclable and biodegradable.

“Doing right by the people we reach, the places we touch, and the products we make”

Born and raised in Portland, Oregon, Columbia has been making gear so that Pacific Northwesterners can enjoy the outdoors for more than 70 years. At the helm for over 40 years has been their Chairman, Gert Boyle. Her Tough Mother persona has grown Columbia into the global sportswear company that it is today—still based in Portland, still making no-nonsense apparel and footwear.

As an outdoors company, Columbia feels they have a responsibility to know where their products are coming from and what effect they are having on the planet. Through breakthrough product design and sustainable manufacturing practices, they're creating new ways to reduce their impact on the environment.

FAIR LABOR
ASSOCIATION

Eco Credentials

Responsible Leather

95% of leather used by Columbia comes from the Leather Working Group member tanneries – a multi-stakeholder group developing and maintaining protocols to assess the compliance and environmental performance of tanners.

Bluesign Certified

Implementing systems which enable factories to operate more efficiently, reduce overall water consumption, and ensure products meet the strictest chemical safety requirements. Materials used are dyed without water or with significantly less water.

Responsible Down

Columbia is committed to the welfare of animals and work with manufacturing partners that share and practice these values. All of Columbia's down-insulated products meet the Responsible Down Standard.

Sustainable Product Design

Columbia continually explore ways to design products efficiently requiring fewer raw materials and components, use less water and energy to manufacture, and are safer for the environment.

Investing in Nature

Columbia partners with a variety of conservation-focused non-profit organisations, to provide annual product and cash donations, helping to meet their shared goal of conserving the outdoors.

Planet Water

Columbia is proud to partner with the Planet Water Foundation, a U.S. non-profit that helps combat our global water crisis by bringing clean water to the world's most disadvantaged communities.

Environmental Impact Management

Columbia employs a team that is dedicated to assessing environmental impacts from manufacturing. Their objective is to measure, track and improve the energy, waste, water and chemical impacts associated with manufacturing their products.

National Park Partnership

Columbia has a partnership with the UK National Parks, outfitting the dedicated rangers and staff, who protect and promote the most precious and beloved landscapes.

“Enjoying the natural world but doing everything in our power to preserve and protect it.”

Jack Wolfskin began in 1981, when business student and former boy scout, Ulrich Dausien, supplied Frankfurt’s university community with affordable outdoor gear from Taiwan. He advertised his tents and sleeping bags as adventure gear and a real alternative to what was available on the German market in the early 80’s.

Jack Wolfskin’s sustainability goals continually drive them to develop innovative and eco-friendly materials. As a result, products are made from recycled materials, contain no PFC’s, natural fur or angora wool.

Partners & Memberships

Eco Credentials

PFC Free

Since 2009 Jack Wolfskin has been reducing the amount of polyfluorinated chemicals within their products. Since Summer 2020, all apparel as well as backpacks, bags, accessories and tents, have been completely free from PFCs.

Responsible Down Standard

Jack Wolfskin only uses RDS checked down suppliers. The RDS label certifies that the down supply is obtained strictly from animals that have been kept species-appropriate and not suffered from forced feeding.

Green Farming

All products are made from 100% organic cotton. High standards are applied to cultivation of organic cotton: naturally, the use of chemical fertilisers and pesticides, as well as genetically modified seeds are strictly prohibited.

Responsible Leather

Jack Wolfskin only uses leather that is a by-product of the food production process and does not originate from protected animals.

Eco Friendly Packaging

It is not possible to completely eliminate all protective packaging. However, Jack Wolfskin has taken a raft of measures, such as using FSC-certified paper for all hangtags and 100% recycled plastic transport packaging, to reduce waste.

Green Headquarters

Since 2008, Jack Wolfskin has been making the change to a greener Headquarters, within this effort they have switched to using 100% green electricity.

Forest Conservation

In 2021, Jack Wolfskin donated €100,000 from their Nature Counts promotion, to finance the conservation of 25,000m² over the next 50 years.

Low-Carbon Transport

Jack Wolfskin has managed to slash their use of airfreight, which accounts for the majority of their total CO₂ emissions. They now transport 90% of global incoming freight by sea.

NAPAPIJRI

“Made to be made again.”

An Italian brand, with a sort-of-Finnish name, and a Norwegian flag as its logo, from the very beginning Napapijri thrived on intersectionality: defying labels, transcending boxes, pursuing the unexpected journey into nature and creativity. Napapijri was born in 1987 in the shadow of Europe’s highest peak, Mont Blanc, where an Italian manufacturer of travel bags gave outdoor apparel a new meaning by combining innovative materials and close attention to style. Inspired by the sophistication of great expeditions of the last century and the intrepid explorers who transformed their lives into unique journeys.

Traceability

Through traceability, Napapijri can keep working to create their products in an ethical and sustainable manner.

Fur and Down Free

In 2016, Napapijri banned all fur and down from all of their products and developed their own unique Thermo-Fibre™ insulation.

Reducing Waste

Since 2015, VF have diverted more than 86,000 metric tons of materials from the landfill through recycling and reuse across their distribution center network.

Renewable Energy

Napapijri are part of the VF Company. As of 2022, VF secured RECs to support the generation of renewable energy equivalent to 34% of our global electric usage, compared to 26% in 2017.

Chemicals

The VF CHEM-IQSM program for eliminating unwanted chemical substances from their supply chain, identifies potentially harmful chemicals at the point of origin before they are used in the manufacturing of any products.

Waste Water

Wastewater is independently validated by expert third parties to determine whether discharge water from VF's supplier factories meets their high standards for water quality.

“We are moved by mountains – and we strive to take responsibility for them”

From high alpine expeditions to ski tours and ice climbing, Mammut offers the perfect product system for extreme scenarios. They work with the most ambitious athletes in the world to design, test and improve all products until every last detail truly lives up to their reputation.

With a history in the outdoors industry dating back to 1862, Mammut has a strong urge to preserve what’s worth preserving and transform what’s not perfect yet. The Mammut “WE CARE” philosophy aims to reduce wastage of water, textiles and other valuables to a minimum, while perfecting craftsmanship longevity and performance of their products.

RE: DOWN

Mammut uses RE: DOWN (recycled down) in their products, which is reclaimed from old bedding products and sleeping bags that can't be resold. It offers the same performance as virgin down and the quality of the down is tested at every step of the production.

Organic Cotton

Organic cotton preserves the environment by reducing water, energy use and greenhouse gas emissions and by fostering soil fertility and biodiversity. Mammut started using it in 2009 and aims to use 100% organic cotton by 2025.

Clean Production

Mammut strives to safeguard clean production processes with minimal emissions. To prevent harmful substances from being released into the environment, Mammut ensures they never enter its supply chains in the first place.

Responsibly Sourced Wool

Mammut is committed to sourcing wool according to the Responsible Wool Standard as soon as it becomes available. All of the wool used to make their products is already mulesing-free. By summer 2025, it will all be sourced from RWS-certified farms.

Animal Welfare

Mammut constantly strive to uphold the highest animal welfare standards. They work exclusively with farms practicing responsible animal husbandry and have set a long-term goal of supply chain transparency.

The Fair Wear Foundation (FWF)

Mammut works alongside the FWF to ensure that workers' rights are protected throughout their supply chain. Mammut monitors working conditions at its suppliers by means of regular audits and factory visits.

Minimising Air Freight

Mammut has started to switch to ocean cargo or rail for the transportation of their products as opposed to air freight. Air cargo footprint is 40-50 times higher than shipment by cargo ship.

Climate Action

By signing the UN Fashion Industry Charter for Climate Action in 2018, Mammut started their climate-journey, committing to reduce their absolute GHG-emissions by 30% by 2030 and to become net zero by 2050.

icebreaker

“Driven by the belief that nature has the answers”

Icebreaker started with a chance meeting on a New Zealand merino station, where founder Jeremy Moon first encountered merino and its natural and miraculous qualities. Relatively unknown at the time, but Jeremy knew instantly that merino would be the perfect natural alternative to synthetic outdoor clothing.

Since then, icebreaker has grown into a world-class sustainably driven apparel company, working with what nature provides, with a belief that nature is the antidote humans need to balance faster, busier lives in an ever-changing world. In 2008, icebreaker became the first company to ban the mulesing of sheep in the outdoor apparel industry as part of its work to champion animal welfare.

“Our aim is to become the most progressive, transparent and sustainable outdoor hardgoods brand worldwide”

Osprey was born in California, 1974 at the seat of a single sewing machine, with a head full of ideas and a desire to design & build innovative backpacks to the highest quality. Today, Osprey products continue that pioneering spirit, being used on the highest mountains to the remotest islands and everywhere in between.

Osprey’s sustainability journey began through designing high quality durable backpacks that are built to last, minimising the amount of material that goes to landfill has always been at the top of their agenda. In 2020, they pledged to become the most progressive, transparent and sustainable hard goods brand worldwide, and since have begun to introduce new processes and new ways of thinking.

Eco Credentials

Recycled Fabrics

Their range of 100% recycled fabric packs includes both post-consumer and post-industrial waste. This means that everything from plastic bottles to excess manufacturing materials have been carefully selected and woven into high-quality, durable fabrics.

Metal Componentry

As well as recycled fabrics, Osprey have introduced highly durable metal componentry. This componentry is built to stand the test of time while also providing the opportunity to be recycled when required.

PFC-Free

As a responsible brand, Osprey have had to move away from damaging chemicals and towards a more sustainable alternative. Due to this, by 2022, all products will use 100% PFC-free durable water repellent coatings.

Post-Consumer Waste

Osprey's Arcane packs are produced from polyester yarns, sourced from recycled PET bottles. This gives your pack a sustainable background, helps clear up plastic bottles and prevents the consumption of natural resources.

Minimising Waste

Osprey have diverted over 21,471 lbs of waste through their Renewal Workshop partnership from ending up in a landfill.

Green Headquarters

Osprey's European HQ has solar panels and up to date energy efficient technology. Whilst greenhouse gas emissions are being measured, reduced and offset throughout the business.

Nimsdai Foundation

Osprey have partnered with the Nimsdai Foundation, to give back to the mountain communities of the Himalayas; supporting educational, technological, and capacity-building initiatives.

Protecting Our Future

From clearing man-made structures from mountainous habitats to bird of prey conservation efforts, Osprey are always looking for ways to protect the environments for future generations to enjoy.

“Quality designs that will stand the test of time”

Eastpak have been making long-lasting products since 1952 when they started out as Eastern Canvas Products, making durable gear for the US military. Their products are built to resist whatever life throws at us, allow us to express ourselves as individuals, and inspire positive resistance.

Since their emergence, they’ve continued to make durable designs that are built to last. They believe in buying less and buying better when it comes to bags. By opting for quality designs that will stand the test of time, they reduce waste and their impact on the environment.

Eco Credentials

Designed for Durability

Eastpak conducts thorough tests on their products to ensure they meet strict quality standards. These tests guarantee that the water-resistant finishes, strong zippers and hard-wearing wheels are built to last.

Reducing Waste & Preserving Style

As part of Eastpak's mission to minimise waste and preserve style, they're using recycled materials and leftover fabrics to create sustainable designs. Repurposing your pre-loved bags and using responsibly sourced materials to reinvent their icons.

Built to Last

Eastpak design bags that are built to endure your active lifestyle. They understand that even with the most durable materials, things sometimes break. Their limited warranty policy helps to extend the life of products with up to thirty years of cover.

Traceability

Eastpak are taking responsibility for their production processes, people and where they work. Their traceability maps follow the steps and processes that products take from the start of the supply chain to arriving at your home.

Packaging

All Eastpak orders are shipped with plastic-free, minimal packaging with responsibly sourced cardboard.

Raw Materials

Eastpak are part of VF corporation and as such are working with NGO's and industry experts to guarantee the most ethical practices when sourcing raw materials and leather.

“Timeless products, with a fine regard for detail”

Herschel’s goal is to create a timeless product with a fine regard for detail. Founded in 2009 by brothers Jamie and Lyndon Cormack, Herschel Supply Co. adopted the name of the town where three generations of their family grew up. Based in Vancouver, Canada Herschel Supply Co. is a design-driven global accessories brand that produces quality products with a fine regard for detail.

Herschel Supply strives to create design-driven, quality products using responsible manufacturing practices. Their fine regard for detail is also reflected in their supply chain - they are committed to respecting human rights and require a high level of transparency from their factories and suppliers.

Eco Credentials and Supply Chain Transparency

Recycled Fabrics

Herschel's Water-Resistant Range and Eco Collection are made from 100% recycled fabrics made with post-consumer water bottles that have been collected, chipped, cleaned, melted, spun and woven into fabric and then sewn into bags.

Sustainability Pledge

From Autumn 2023, Herschel aims for all products within their core collection to be made from sustainable fabrics

Supplier Verification

Herschel Supply conducts annual social compliance audits and regular site visits of factories in its supply chain to verify compliance with its Code of Conduct and other requirements.

Audits

Herschel Supply conducts both scheduled and unscheduled audits of its factories and authorised subcontractors. All factories which produce finished products are audited at least once a year by an independent, accredited third party.

Certification

Herschel Supply's direct material suppliers are expected to comply with applicable local laws regarding slavery and human trafficking.

Accountability

Herschel Supply reviews all supply chain audits and develops recommendations and corrective action plans for the factory or supplier.

Barbour attained ISO14001, the international standard specifying requirements for environmental management system accreditation, in 2019.

Sedex

Barbour is a full member of SEDEX which is a not-for-profit organisation enabling access to independent third-party audit reports on factories and suppliers.

Better Cotton Initiative

Barbour is proud to be a member of the Better Cotton Initiative (BCI). 100% of their waxed cotton is sourced through BCI.

Organic Yarn

Barbour's certified organic cotton and wool yarns are kinder to the environment because they are made without the use of pesticides and harmful chemicals

“Leaving basecamp in better condition than we found it”

Hailing from the small town of Örnsköldsvik in Sweden, a place where mountains and forest meet the sea, Fjällräven is an outdoor clothing and equipment company that’s committed to making nature more accessible. In true Swedish style, they focus on simplicity and practicality, and have the utmost respect for the environment.

They were voted Most Sustainable Brand 2021 by The Sustainable Brand Index. The Sustainable Brand Index is Europe’s largest study about sustainability with 58,000 consumers in eight countries evaluating over 1,400 brands in 35 industries.

Eco Credentials

Sustainable Design

Fjällräven ensures their products are the best they can be, both in terms of materials that last and have a low environmental impact.

Recyclability

Although in its infancy now, Fjällräven hopes garment recycling will become more widespread. So, they try to use just one or two materials in each product for easier future recycling.

Low Material Impact

Why use a raw material when a recycled one is available and offers the same quality? Can the cut and fit be adapted to reduce waste? The type and amount of a material is a key consideration in Fjällräven's designs.

Fully Traceable Down

Their down promise means you can rest assured that when you purchase a down product from them, no birds were harmed – this means no live-plucking; they know exactly where the down comes from and that it's of the highest quality.

Re-Wool

Re-Wool using surplus wool to make brand new products. Using traditional Italian craftsmanship, the recycled wool is colour-sorted, shredded then blended with other colours and mixed with yarn and polyester or polyamide for extra strength.

Chemical Guidelines

The Fjällräven Chemical Guidelines set out the framework for hazardous and banned chemicals that can and can't be used within their products. They are constantly updating this list with support from The Swedish Chemicals Group.

Supporting Renewable Energy Projects

Fjällräven supports renewable energy projects that have been verified by the UN and certified according to the Gold Standard.

Carbon Neutral by 2025

Fjällräven's goal is to be completely carbon neutral by 2025.

"Outdoors is our everything"

Hydro Flask aims to make beautifully designed gear that moves people towards nature. Their design and innovation help to reduce the number of plastic bottles heading to landfills which allows us to keep exploring the places we love.

They have emerged as one of the most prominent brands associated with being eco-friendly. The company is known for bottles that are stainless steel and packed with undeniably good insulation.

Partners & Memberships

Eco Credentials

Combatting Plastic

Hydro Flask aim to reduce single-use plastics like water bottles and containers. They've also partnered with the Surfrider Foundation to help remove plastic/rubbish from US beaches and eliminate plastic pollution at its source.

Recyclable Packaging

In 2021, Hydro Flask began to transition to plastic-free, fully recyclable packaging. With 40+ designs, subjected to durability testing, as well as food contact standards, they have since eliminated the equivalent of over 10 million single-use plastic bottles.

Parks For All

A charitable program Hydro Flask created to benefit public green spaces and promote happier, healthier lives outdoors for all. To date, they have been able to support more than 151 non-profit organisations and donate over $2.5 million.

#RefillForGood

Hydro Flask gear can replace single-use plastics such as plastic water bottles and to-go containers. #RefillForGood is Hydro Flask's rally cry to encourage people to make the switch and make a real difference for the planet.

Purpose

Hydro Flask continuously seeks ways to live up to its environmental purpose. Recently they conducted an extensive life cycle assessment of their 32-ounce bottle, in search of places to improve its energy and material impacts.

Sustainable Operations

Hydro Flask is looking internally at its operations, at its supply chain partners, and focusing, on reducing its environmental impact as well as driving social benefit.

“Inspiring people to explore and love the outdoors”

An active outdoor lifestyle is the common ground on which Kathmandu stands. Be it surfing, hiking or spending time in the open air, our mission is to inspire, enhance and encourage activities that make us all happier, by being challenged, revived and surprised by the outdoors.

They have the desire to craft something meaningful and special. With products engineered for purpose and made specifically with the outdoors in mind. They are tested in the elements – not just in factories and laboratories – by experts who understand what it takes to have gear that performs when you need it.

They are committed to protecting our natural environment and the people touched by our brands. Part of an accelerating global cultural shift to redefine success, building a more inclusive and sustainable economy, and use business as a force for good. By engaging in sustainable practices, we protect the experience and exhilaration offered by the outdoors that mean so much to them and their customers.

Partners & Memberships

Eco Credentials

Certified B-Corp

In 2019, Kathmandu became a certified B-Corp. This means they have to consider the impact of decisions on their workers, customers, suppliers, community and the environment.

Responsible Wool Standard

From farm and right through production, certification ensures that wool for certified farms is properly identified and tracked.

100% Ethically sourced Down

The Responsible Down Standard protects an animal's 'Five Freedoms'. This means no force-feeding and definitely no live-plucking.

Recycolor Cotton

Using scraps that are gathered from factory cutting tables, are mixed with virgin cotton to create a stronger finished yarn. The fabric has a distinctive marle-look that needs no dyeing while the recycled cotton uses about 70% less water.

Recycled Polyester

In 2020 we expanded our Heli recycled insulation range. The Heli range uses a synthetic ecodown made from recycled plastic bottles, which are broken down into resin and reinvented as polyester fibres that mimic down by trapping warmth in air pockets.

BlueSign Partner

Since December 2016 Kathmandu have been a BlueSign system partner to ensure that their products are free from hazardous chemicals and are responsibly made.

Carbon Emissions

They have invested in carbon credits generated from high-impact projects around the world where they have their factories, each project delivers economic and social benefits for communities.

Solar Powered Stores

Kathmandu opened our first 100% solar-powered store in Blackburn, Victoria.
